MoldMaking CONFERENCE 2022

WHO WILL ATTEND THE 2022 MOLDBAKING CONFERENCE?

The MoldMaking Conference will bring to the forefront the technologies and best practices necessary for the critical decision-making that needs to take place by the mold builder and mold buyer. The program will offer high-quality, noncommercial presentations focused on practical solutions for dealing with the challenges and complexities of mold manufacturing—from mold design to first shot. Presentations will review technology investment and deployment for the variety of processes used to design and build a mold, will increase awareness and planning for more proactive mold maintenance, and will examine challenges and strategies to further evolve from being a mold shop to a mold manufacturer.

Leaders and innovators in moldmaking from around the globe will gather at the 2022 MoldMaking Conference for the opportunity to attend sessions led by experts in their respective fields—technology and service suppliers as well as moldmakers, molders and OEMs.
